Item 2 Material Changes

This section describes the material changes to this Form ADV Part 2A, Brochure since the February 4, 2017 Annual Amendment filing.

On February 24, 2018, the Firm filed for registration as an investment adviser with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”). The Firm is currently registered with the Minnesota Department of Commerce as an investment adviser. As a result, Item 4 of this brochure was amended. When the SEC approves the Firm’s application, the Firm will withdraw its registration with the Minnesota Department of Commerce and this Brochure will further be amended to remove Item 19 and the Brochure Supplement section consistent with regulatory requirements.

Lastly, the Brochure Supplement section of the brochure has been revised to remove Philip J. Armstrong and add Polly Hamm.

Brown Wealth Management, LLC’s Chief Compliance Officer, Timothy B. Brown, remains available to address any questions that a client or prospective client may have regarding this Brochure.

Item 4 Advisory Business

- A. Brown Wealth Management (the “Firm”) is a limited liability company formed on January 15, 2003 in the State of Minnesota. The Firm became registered as an Investment Adviser on August 15, 2002 with the Minnesota Department of Commerce. On [January 16, 2018], the Firm applied for registration with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. The Firm is owned entirely by Timothy B. Brown, who is also the Firm’s Chief Compliance Officer.
- B. As discussed below, the Firm offers to its clients (generally, individuals, high net worth individuals, pension and profit sharing plans) investment advisory services, financial planning and related consulting services, and retirement plan consulting services.

ADVISORY SERVICES

The Firm is a registered investment adviser that provides fee-only financial planning and investment counseling services to individuals, corporations, small business, 401(k), pensions and profit sharing plans, estates and trusts. The firm provides financial planning to clients. This includes the five areas of financial planning which are Protection, Estate Planning, Income Tax Planning, Retirement income Planning and Investment Planning. The firm offers discretionary investment advisory services on advisory accounts.

For most clients, the Firm’s compensation derives from investment advisory fees on assets that are managed by the Firm, on behalf of the client. Clients pay the Firm a management fee, also called an investment advisory fee, calculated as a percentage of the market value of the account.

RETIREMENT PLAN CONSULTING SERVICES

The Firm also offers non-discretionary retirement plan consulting services, pursuant to which it assists sponsors of self-directed retirement plans and defined benefit plans with the selection and/or monitoring of investment alternatives from which plan participants may choose in self-directing the investments for their individual plan retirement accounts. In addition, to the extent requested by the plan sponsor, the Firm may also provide participant education designed to assist participants in identifying the appropriate investment strategy for their retirement plan accounts. The terms and conditions of the engagement between the Firm and the plan sponsor shall be set forth in a Retirement Plan Consulting Agreement.

MISCELLANEOUS

Non-Discretionary Service Limitations. Clients that have determined to engage the Firm on a non-discretionary investment advisory basis must be willing to accept that the Firm cannot effect any account transactions without obtaining prior consent to such transaction(s) from the client. Thus, in the event that the Firm would like to make a transaction for a client’s account (including in the event of an individual holding or general market correction), and the client is unavailable, the Firm will be unable to effect the account transaction(s) (as it would for its discretionary clients) without first obtaining the client’s consent.

Limitations of Non-Investment Consulting/Implementation Services. To the extent requested by the client, the Firm may provide consulting services regarding non-investment related matters, such as estate planning, tax planning, insurance, etc. The Firm does not serve as a law firm, accounting firm, or insurance agency, and no portion of the Firm's services should be construed as legal, accounting, or insurance implementation services. Accordingly, the Firm does not prepare estate planning documents, tax returns, or sell insurance products. To the extent requested by a client, the Firm may recommend the services of other professionals for certain non-investment implementation purposes (i.e. attorneys, accountants, insurance, etc.). The client is under no obligation to engage the services of any such recommended professional. The client retains absolute discretion over all such implementation decisions and is free to accept or reject any recommendation from the Firm. Please Note: If the client engages any such recommended professional, and a dispute arises thereafter relative to such engagement, the client agrees to seek recourse exclusively from and against the engaged professional.

Client Obligations. In performing its services, the Firm shall not be required to verify any information received from the client or from the client's other professionals, and is expressly authorized to rely thereon. Moreover, each client is advised that it remains their responsibility to promptly notify the Firm if there is ever any change in their financial situation or investment objectives for the purpose of reviewing / evaluating / revising Firm's previous recommendations and/or services.

Account Aggregators. The Firm may provide its clients with access to online platforms that allow a client to view their complete asset allocation, including those assets that the Firm does not manage (the "Excluded Assets"). The Firm does not provide investment management, monitoring, or implementation services for the Excluded Assets. Therefore, the Firm shall not be responsible for the investment performance of the Excluded Assets. Rather, the client and their other advisor(s) that maintain management authority for the Excluded Assets, and not Firm, shall be exclusively responsible for such investment performance. The client may choose to engage the Firm to manage some or all of the Excluded Assets pursuant to the terms and conditions of an Investment Advisory Agreement between the Firm and the client. Finally, the Firm shall not be held responsible for any adverse results a client may experience if the client engages in other functions on any online platform without the Firm's assistance or oversight.

Investment Risk. Different types of investments involve varying degrees of risk, and it should not be assumed that future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy (including the investments and/or investment strategies recommended or undertaken by the Firm) will be profitable or equal any specific performance level(s).

Trade Error Policy. The Firm shall reimburse accounts for losses resulting from Firm's trade errors.

Retirement Plan Rollovers – No Obligation / Potential for Conflict of Interest: A client or prospective client leaving an employer typically has four options regarding an existing retirement plan (and may engage in a combination of these options): (i) leave the money in the former employer's plan, if permitted, (ii) roll over the assets to the new employer's plan, if one is available and rollovers are permitted, (iii) roll over to an Individual Retirement Account ("IRA"), or (iv) cash out the account value (which could, depending upon the client's age, result in adverse tax consequences). If the Firm recommends that a client roll over their retirement plan assets into an account to be managed by the Firm, such a recommendation creates a conflict of interest if the Firm will earn a new (or increase its current) advisory fee as a result of the rollover. To the extent that the Firm recommends that clients roll over assets from their retirement plan to an IRA managed by the Firm, then the Firm represents that it and its investment adviser representatives are fiduciaries under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (“ERISA”), or the Internal Revenue Code, or both. No client is under any obligation to roll over retirement plan assets to an account managed by the Firm. The Firm’s Chief Compliance Officer, Timothy B. Brown, remains available to address any questions that a client or prospective client may have regarding the conflict of interest presented by such a rollover recommendation.

Use of Mutual Funds. While the Firm may recommend allocating investment assets to mutual funds that are not available directly to the public, the Firm may also recommend that clients allocate investment assets to publically-available mutual funds that the client could obtain without engaging Firm as an investment adviser. However, if a client or prospective client determines to allocate investment assets to publically-available mutual funds without engaging Firm as an investment adviser, the client or prospective client would not receive the benefit of Firm’s initial and ongoing investment advisory services. Other mutual funds, such as those issued by Dimensional Fund Advisors (“DFA”), are generally only available through registered investment advisers. Firm may allocate client investment assets to DFA mutual funds. Therefore, upon the termination of Firm’s services to a client, restrictions regarding transferability and/or additional purchases of, or reallocation among DFA funds will apply. Clients that determine to sell such mutual funds could experience tax consequences. Firm is not responsible for any tax consequences incurred by clients because of their decision to sell mutual funds held in their account following the termination of the Firm’s services.

- C. The Firm shall provide investment advisory services specific to the needs of each client. Prior to providing investment advisory services, an investment adviser representative will ascertain each client’s investment objective(s). Thereafter, Firm shall allocate and/or recommend that the client allocate investment assets consistent with the designated investment objective(s). The client may, at anytime, impose reasonable restrictions, in writing, on Firm’s services.
- D. The Firm does not participate in a wrap fee program.
- E. As of December 31, 2017, the Firm had $107,369,199 in assets under management, of which $91,191,597 was managed on a discretionary basis and $16,177,602 was managed on a non-discretionary basis.

Item 5 Fees and Compensation

A. INVESTMENT ADVISORY SERVICES

The Firm's annual investment advisory fee is determined in one of three ways, each described in more detail below.

1. Fixed Fees. A fixed, annual fee. These type of fees are subject to a $5,000 minimum annual fee. The Firm sets these fees based on various objective and subjective factors and after discussion with the client. The factors that the Firm considers include, but are not limited to, the amount of the client's asset, the level and scope of the investment advisory services required, the complexity of the engagement and the number of times the client would like to meet with the Firm.
2. Asset Based Fees. An annual fee based upon the market value of the assets placed under the Firm's management based on the following fee schedule:

Market Value of Assets under Management or Advisement	% of Assets
First $1,000,000	1.00%
Next $1,000,000	0.80%
Amounts Exceeding $2,000,000	0.70%

3. Hourly Fees. An hourly fee of $400/hour. This hourly service is limited to clients with investment assets of under $350,000.

Fixed Fees and Asset Based Fee arrangements generally include initial financial planning fees, which on a stand-alone basis are charged according to the description contained in the Financial Planning and Consulting Services section below.

The Firm seeks to provide complete transparency with regard to fees and expenses. Clients receive a confirmation of each transaction clearly disclosing any fees, and monthly statements detailing all activity and charges.

At any time, clients may add funds or securities to their accounts, withdraw funds or securities from their accounts, or close their accounts. There are no lock-up provisions. Upon termination, any fees paid in advance are refunded pro-rata based on the number of days remaining in the period.

Based on our pricing arrangements, the Firm's clients can pay different fees for the same or similar services. The services provided to any particular client could be available from other investment advisers at lower (or higher) rate. All clients and prospective clients should be guided accordingly.

FINANCIAL PLANNING AND CONSULTING SERVICES (STAND-ALONE)

Firm's financial planning and consulting fees are negotiable, but generally are $400 per hour on an hourly rate basis, or between $1,500 and $10,000 on a fixed fee basis, depending upon the level and scope of the service(s) required.

RETIREMENT PLAN CONSULTING SERVICES

The Firm also provides non-discretionary retirement plan consulting services, pursuant to which it assists sponsors of self-directed retirement plans and defined benefit plans with the selection and/or monitoring of investment alternatives. The terms and conditions of the engagement shall generally be set forth in a Retirement Plan Consulting Agreement between the Firm and the plan sponsor. The Firm charges a negotiable annual fee for retirement plan consulting services, which generally ranges from 0.10% to 0.50% of plan assets depending on the level and scope of services requested, and the size of the plan.

DISCLOSURE APPLICABLE TO ALL INVESTMENT ADVISORY SERVICES

The Firm, in its sole discretion, may reduce its minimum fees and/or charge lesser fees based upon certain criteria, including without limitation, anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amount of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, and negotiations with client.

- B. Clients may elect to have Firm's advisory fees deducted from their custodial account. Both Firm's Investment Advisory Agreement and the custodial/ clearing agreement may authorize the custodian to debit the account for the amount of Firm's investment advisory fee and to directly remit that fee to Firm in compliance with regulatory procedures. If the Firm bills the client directly, including for financial planning and consulting relationships, payment is due upon receipt of Firm's invoice.
- C. As discussed below, unless the client directs otherwise or an individual client's circumstances require, Firm shall generally recommend TD Ameritrade Institutional, a division of TD Ameritrade, Inc., member FINRA/SIPC/NFA ("TDA") serve as the broker-dealer/custodian for client investment management assets. Broker-dealers such as TDA charge brokerage commissions and/or transaction fees for effecting certain securities transactions (i.e. transaction fees are charged for certain no-load mutual funds, commissions are charged for individual equity and fixed income securities transactions). In addition to Firm's investment advisory fees, brokerage commissions and/or transaction fees, clients will incur, relative to all mutual fund and ETF purchases, charges imposed at the fund level (e.g. management fees and other fund expenses).
- D. Except for hourly fees, the investment advisory fee shall be prorated and paid quarterly, in advance, based upon the market value of the assets under management and/or advisement on the first business day of the last month of the previous billing quarter. Except for hourly fees, one-fourth of the investment advisory fee is due and payable upon the execution of the applicable form of client agreement, and the remaining balance will be equally billed or deducted from client's account at three-month intervals. Thereafter, the investment advisory fee will be re-set at the beginning of each following 12-month period. The applicable form of agreement between Firm and the client will continue in effect until terminated by either party by written notice in accordance with the terms of such agreement. Upon termination of the agreement, Firm shall refund the pro-rated portion of the advanced advisory fee paid based upon the number of days remaining in the billing quarter, or debit or bill the client's account for the pro-rated portion of the unearned advanced fee based upon the number of days remaining in the quarter, as applicable. Hourly fees are generally due upon receipt of an invoice.
- E. Neither Firm, nor its representatives, accepts compensation from the sale of securities or other investment products.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-by-Side Management

Neither Firm nor any supervised person of Firm accepts performance-based fees.

Item 7 Types of Clients

Most of the Firm's clients are either about to retire or are already retired individuals. Any client who has a financial, tax or investment problem, or who wishes to plan for their financial future could stand to benefit from our services.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

A. The Firm may utilize the following methods of security analysis:

- Fundamental - (analysis performed on historical and present data, with the goal of making financial forecasts)
- Technical – (analysis performed on historical and present data, focusing on price and trade volume, to forecast the direction of prices)
- Cyclical – (analysis performed on historical relationships between price and market trends, to forecast the direction of prices)

The Firm may utilize the following investment strategies when implementing investment advice given to clients:

- Long Term Purchases (securities held at least a year)
- Short Term Purchases (securities sold within a year)
- Trading (securities sold within thirty (30) days)

The Firm continually adapts its investment recommendations to market conditions and individual client needs. Experience has shown that no one approach works at all times for all clients.

Please Note: Investment Risk. Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. Different types of investments involve varying degrees of risk, and it should not be assumed that future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy (including the investments and/or investment strategies recommended or undertaken by Firm) will be profitable or equal any specific performance level(s).

B. Firm's methods of analysis and investment strategies do not present any significant or unusual risks. However, every method of analysis has its own inherent risks. To perform an accurate market analysis Firm must have access to current/new market information. Firm has no control over the dissemination rate of market information; therefore, unbeknownst to Firm, certain analyses may be compiled with outdated market information, severely limiting the value of Firm's analysis. Furthermore, an accurate market analysis can only produce a forecast of the direction of market values. There can be no assurances that a forecasted change in market value will materialize into actionable and/or profitable investment opportunities.

The Firm's primary investment strategies - Long Term Purchases, Short Term Purchases, and Trading - are fundamental investment strategies. However, every investment strategy has its own inherent risks and limitations. For example, longer term investment strategies require a longer investment time period to allow for the strategy to potentially develop. Shorter term investment strategies require a shorter investment time period to potentially develop but, as a result of more frequent trading, may incur higher transactional costs when compared to a longer term investment strategy. Trading, an investment strategy that requires the purchase and sale of securities within a thirty (30) day investment time period, involves a very short investment time period but will incur higher transaction costs when compared to a short term investment strategy and substantially higher transaction costs than a longer term investment strategy.

- C. Currently, Firm primarily allocates client investment assets among various individual equities, bonds, ETFs, index funds, and no-load and load-waived mutual funds on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis in accordance with the client's designated investment objective(s). In certain limited cases, Firm may also recommend the allocation of investment assets to Real Estate Investment Trusts ("REITs") and Structured Notes, which involve a higher level of inherent risk and liquidity constraints.

REITs. REITs are subject to risks generally associated with investing in real estate, such as: possible declines in the value of real estate; adverse general and local economic conditions; possible lack of availability of mortgage funds; changes in interest rates; and environmental problems. In addition, REITs are subject to certain other risks related specifically to their structure and focus such as: dependency upon management skills; limited diversification; the risks of locating and managing financing for projects; heavy cash flow dependency; possible default by borrowers; the costs and potential losses of self-liquidation of one or more holdings; the possibility of failing to maintain exemptions from securities registration; and, in many cases, relatively small market capitalization, which may result in less market liquidity and greater price volatility. In the event that a client has any questions regarding the purchase of REITs for their account, the Firm's Chief Compliance Officer, Timothy B. Brown, remains available to address them.

Structured Notes. A structured note is a financial instrument that combines two elements, a debt security and exposure to an underlying asset or assets. It is essentially a note, carrying counter party risk of the issuer. However, the return on the note is linked to the return of an underlying asset or assets (such as the S&P 500 Index or commodities). It is this latter feature that makes structured products unique, as the payout can be used to provide some degree of principal protection, leveraged returns (but usually with some cap on the maximum return), and be tailored to a specific market or economic view. In addition, investors may receive long-term capital gains tax treatment if certain underlying conditions are met and the note is held for more than one year. Finally, structured notes may also have liquidity constraints, such that the sale thereof prior to maturity may be limited. In the event that a client has any questions regarding the purchase of structured notes for their account, the Firm's Chief Compliance Officer, Timothy B. Brown, remains available to address them.

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

Firm has not been the subject of any reportable disciplinary actions.

Item 10 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

- A. Neither Firm, nor its representatives, are registered or have an application pending to register, as a broker-dealer or a registered representative of a broker-dealer.
- B. Neither Firm, nor its representatives, are registered or have an application pending to register, as a futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, a commodity trading advisor, or a representative of the foregoing.
- C. The Firm has no other relationship or arrangement with a related person that is material to its advisory business.
- D. Firm does not receive, directly or indirectly, compensation from investment advisors that it recommends or selects for its clients. However, the Firm maintains a Business Continuity and Succession Plan and seeks to avoid a disruption of service to clients in the event of an unforeseen loss of key personnel, due to disability or death. To that end, the Firm has entered into a succession agreement with Buckingham Strategic Wealth, effective November 12, 2015. The Firm can provide additional information to any current or prospective client upon request to Timothy Brown, Principal at Tim@BrownWealth.com.

Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

- A. Firm maintains an investment policy relative to personal securities transactions. This investment policy is part of Firm's overall Code of Ethics, which serves to establish a standard of business conduct for all of Firm's Representatives that is based upon fundamental principles of openness, integrity, honesty and trust, a copy of which is available upon request.

Firm also maintains and enforces policies reasonably designed to prevent the misuse of material non-public information by Firm or any person associated with Firm.

- B. Neither Firm nor any of its related persons recommends, buys, or sells for client accounts, securities in which Firm or any related person of Firm has a material financial interest.
- C. Firm and/or representatives of Firm may buy or sell securities that are also recommended to clients. This practice may create a situation where Firm and/or representatives of Firm are in a position to materially benefit from the sale or purchase of those securities. Therefore, this situation creates a potential conflict of interest. Practices such as "scalping" (i.e., a practice whereby the owner of shares of a security recommends that security for investment and then immediately sells it at a profit upon the rise in the market price which follows the recommendation) could take place if Firm did not have adequate policies in place to detect such activities. In addition, this requirement can help detect insider trading, "front-running" (i.e., personal trades executed prior to those of Firm's clients) and other potentially abusive practices.

Firm has a personal securities transaction policy in place to monitor the personal securities transactions and securities holdings of each of Firm's "Access Persons". Firm's securities transaction policy requires that an Access Person of Firm must provide the Chief Compliance Officer or his/her designee with a written report of their current securities holdings within ten (10) days after becoming an Access Person. Additionally, each Access Person must provide the Chief Compliance Officer or his/her designee with a written report of the Access Person's current securities holdings at least once each twelve (12) month period thereafter on a date Firm selects; provided, however that at any time that Firm has only one Access Person, he or she shall not be required to submit any securities report described above.

- D. Firm and/or representatives of Firm may buy or sell securities, at or around the same time as those securities are recommended to clients. This practice creates a situation where Firm and/or representatives of Firm are in a position to materially benefit from the sale or purchase of those securities. Therefore, this situation creates a potential conflict of interest. As indicated above in Item 11.C, Firm has a personal securities transaction policy in place to monitor the personal securities transaction and securities holdings of each of Firm's Access Persons.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

- A. In the event that the client requests that Firm recommend a broker-dealer/custodian for execution and/or custodial services (exclusive of those clients that may direct Firm to use a specific broker-dealer/custodian), Firm generally recommends that investment management accounts be maintained at TDA. Prior to engaging Firm to provide investment management services, the client will be required to enter into a formal Investment Advisory Agreement with Firm setting forth the terms and conditions under which Firm shall manage the client's assets, and a separate custodial/clearing agreement with each designated broker-dealer/custodian.

Factors that Firm considers in recommending TDA (or any other broker-dealer/custodian to clients) include historical relationship with Firm, financial strength, reputation, execution capabilities, pricing, research, and service. Although the commissions and/or transaction fees paid by Firm's clients shall comply with Firm's duty to obtain best execution, a client may pay a commission that is higher than another qualified broker-dealer might charge to effect the same transaction where Firm determines, in good faith, that the commission/transaction fee is reasonable. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a broker-dealer's services, including the value of research provided, execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. Accordingly, although Firm will seek competitive rates, it may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for client account transactions. The brokerage commissions or transaction fees charged by the designated broker-dealer/custodian are exclusive of, and in addition to, Firm's investment management fee. Firm's best execution responsibility is qualified if securities that it purchases for client accounts are mutual funds that trade at net asset value as determined at the daily market close.

1. Research and Additional Benefits

Although not a material consideration when determining whether to recommend that a client utilize the services of a particular broker-dealer/custodian, Firm may receive from TDA (or another broker-dealer/custodian, investment platform, vendor, and/or mutual fund sponsor) without cost (and/or at a discount) support services and/or products, certain of which assist Firm to better monitor and service client accounts maintained at such institutions. Included within the support services that may be obtained by Firm may be investment-related research, pricing information and market data, software and other technology that provide access to client account data, compliance and/or practice management-related publications, discounted or gratis consulting services, discounted and/or gratis attendance at conferences, meetings, and other educational and/or social events, marketing support, computer hardware and/or software and/or other products used by Firm in furtherance of its investment advisory business operations.

As indicated above, certain of the support services and/or products that may be received may assist Firm in managing and administering client accounts. Others do not directly provide such assistance, but rather assist Firm to manage and further develop its business enterprise.

Firm's clients do not pay more for investment transactions effected and/or assets maintained at TDA because of this arrangement. There is no corresponding commitment made by Firm to TDA or any other entity to invest any specific amount or percentage of client assets in any specific mutual funds, securities or other investment products because of the above arrangement.

Firm's Chief Compliance Officer, Timothy B. Brown, remains available to address any questions that a client or prospective client may have regarding the above arrangement and any corresponding perceived conflict of interest such arrangement may create.

2. Firm does not receive referrals from broker-dealers.
3. Firm does not generally accept directed brokerage arrangements (when a client requires that account transactions be effected through a specific broker-dealer). In such client directed arrangements, the client will negotiate terms and arrangements for their account with that broker-dealer, and Firm will not seek better execution services or prices from other broker-dealers or be able to "batch" the client's transactions for execution through other broker-dealers with orders for other accounts managed by Firm. As a result, clients may pay higher commissions or other transaction costs or greater spreads, or receive less favorable net prices, on transactions for the account than would otherwise be the case.

Please Note: In the event that the client directs Firm to effect securities transactions for the client's accounts through a specific broker-dealer, the client correspondingly acknowledges that such direction will generally cause the accounts to incur higher commissions or transaction costs than the accounts would otherwise incur had the client determined to effect account transactions through alternative clearing arrangements that may be available through Firm. Higher transaction costs adversely impact account performance. Please Also Note: Transactions for directed accounts will generally be executed following the execution of portfolio transactions for non-directed accounts. Firm's Chief Compliance Officer, Timothy B. Brown, remains available to address any questions that a client or prospective client may have regarding the above arrangement.

- B. To the extent that Firm provides investment management services to its clients, the transactions for each client account generally will be effected independently, unless Firm decides to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at approximately the same time. Firm may (but is not obligated to) combine or “bunch” such orders to obtain best execution, to negotiate more favorable commission rates or to allocate equitably among Firm’s clients differences in prices and commissions or other transaction costs that might have been obtained had such orders been placed independently. Under this procedure, transactions will be averaged as to price and will be allocated among clients in proportion to the purchase and sale orders placed for each client account on any given day. Firm shall not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of such aggregation.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

- A. For those clients to whom Firm provides investment supervisory services, account reviews are conducted on an ongoing basis by Timothy B. Brown. For the avoidance of confusion, the Firm does not review its recommendations made to clients receiving advice pursuant to the Financial Planning and Consulting Services discussion above. All clients are advised that it remains their responsibility to advise Firm of any changes in their investment objectives and/or financial situation. All clients (in person or via telephone) are encouraged to review investment objectives and account performance with Firm on an annual basis.

Firm generally reviews all client accounts receiving ongoing investment supervisory services on a periodic basis and seeks to meet with such clients on at least an annual basis. Accounts are reviewed in the context of each client’s stated investment objectives and guidelines. During each meeting with the client, Firm discusses the client’s accounts and securities portfolio(s) along with other matters, such as insurance or tax matters, that are relevant to the client’s investment objectives. Where necessary, in light of the client’s particular investment objectives, Firm recommends changes to the client’s securities portfolio(s).

Firm may conduct account reviews on an other than periodic basis upon the occurrence of a triggering event such as a market correction, large deposits or withdrawals from an account, substantial changes in the value of a client’s portfolio, change in the client’s investment objectives and client request.

- B. Clients are provided with transaction confirmation notices and regular summary account statements directly from the broker-dealer/custodian for their accounts.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

- A. As referenced in Item 12.1 above, Firm may receive economic benefits from TDA including support services, without cost (and/or at a discount). Firm’s clients do not pay more for investment transactions effected and/or assets maintained at TDA as a result of this arrangement. There is no corresponding commitment made by Firm to TDA or any other entity to invest any specific amount or percentage of client assets in any specific mutual funds, securities or other investment products as a result of the above arrangement.
- B. Firm does not directly or indirectly compensate any person or entity in the event that a client is introduced to Firm for referral purposes.

Item 15 Custody

It is Firm's policy to not accept physical custody of a client's securities. In other words, Firm is not granted access to a client's accounts which would enable Firm to withdraw or transfer or otherwise move funds or cash from any client account to Firm's accounts or the account of any third party (other than for purposes of fee deductions, as explained below).

The State of Minnesota deems that an advisor has custody, among other things, if they have the authority to withdraw funds or securities from a client's account. Firm may have written authorization to deduct its fees directly from the client's account at TDA. Firm employs measures to ensure that the fee calculation and deduction are accurate, such as, comparing the client's current and previous billing statement, reviewing the overall reasonableness of aggregate fees collected based on aggregate assets under management, and sending client's quarterly billing statements that show fee calculations. Please Note: The account custodian does not verify the accuracy of Firm's advisory fee calculation.

All of Firm's clients receive account statements directly from qualified custodians, such as a bank or broker-dealer / custodian that maintains those assets. The client should carefully review these account statements, and compare them to any reports provided by Firm. Statements provided by Firm may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities. Firm urges all of Firm's clients to compare statements in order to ensure that all account transactions, including deductions to pay advisory fees, remain proper, and to contact us with any questions.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

The client can determine to engage Firm to provide investment advisory services on a discretionary basis. Prior to Firm assuming discretionary authority over a client's account, the client shall be required to execute an Investment Advisory Agreement, granting Firm full authority to buy, sell, or otherwise effect investment transactions involving the assets in the client's name found in the discretionary account.

Clients who engage Firm on a discretionary basis may, at anytime, impose restrictions, in writing, on Firm's discretionary authority (i.e. limit the types/amounts of particular securities purchased for their account, exclude the ability to purchase securities with an inverse relationship to the market, limit or proscribe Firm's use of margin, etc).

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

- A. Firm does not vote client proxies. Clients maintain exclusive responsibility for: (1) directing the manner in which proxies solicited by issuers of securities beneficially owned by the client shall be voted, and (2) making all elections relative to any mergers, acquisitions, tender offers, bankruptcy proceedings or other type events pertaining to the client's investment assets.
- B. Clients will receive their proxies or other solicitations directly from their custodian. Clients may contact Firm to discuss any questions they may have with a particular solicitation.

Item 18 Financial Information

- A. Firm does not solicit fees of more than $500, per client, six months or more in advance.
- B. Firm is unaware of any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair its ability to meet its contractual commitments relating to its discretionary authority over certain client accounts.
- C. Firm has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition.

Item 19 Requirements for State Registered Advisers

- A. Timothy B. Brown is the Firm's principal executive officer and management person. Please refer to the Firm's ADV Part 2B, Brochure Supplement, for more information about Mr. Brown.
- B. Firm is not actively engaged in any other business.
- C. Neither Firm, nor its management person accepts performance-based fees.
- D. Neither Firm, nor its management person has been the subject of any disciplinary actions.
- E. Neither Firm, nor its management person has any relationship or arrangement with any issuer of securities.

ANY QUESTIONS: Firm's Chief Compliance Officer, Timothy B. Brown, remains available to address any questions that a client or prospective client may have regarding the above disclosures and arrangements.

Item 2 Education Background and Business Experience

Timothy B. Brown was born in 1965. He received his bachelor's degree from the University of Colorado, where he double- majored in Finance and Accounting. He is also graduate of the University of Minnesota's Carlson School of Management MBA Program.

Before founding Brown Wealth Management, LLC in 2002, Mr. Brown worked in the financial services industry at Deloitte Consulting and US Bank in Minneapolis, MN, and Fleet Bank in Hartford, CT. Mr. Brown has been the principal owner, Chief Compliance Officer and an Investment Adviser Representative of Brown Wealth Management, LLC since June 2002.

Mr. Brown has been a CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™ since 2004. The CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™, CFP® and federally registered CFP (collectively, the “CFP® marks”) are professional certification marks granted in the United States by Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. (“CFP Board”).

The CFP® certification is a voluntary certification; no federal or state law or regulation requires financial planners to hold CFP® certification. It is recognized in the United States and a number of other countries for its (1) high standard of professional education; (2) stringent code of conduct and standards of practice; and (3) ethical requirements that govern professional engagements with clients. Currently, more than 71,000 individuals have obtained CFP® certification in the United States.

To attain the right to use the CFP® marks, an individual must satisfactorily fulfill the following requirements:

- Education – Complete an advanced college-level course of study addressing the financial planning subject areas that CFP Board’s studies have determined as necessary for the competent and professional delivery of financial planning services, and attain a Bachelor’s Degree from a regionally accredited United States college or university (or its equivalent from a foreign university). CFP Board’s financial planning subject areas include insurance planning and risk management, employee benefits planning, investment planning, income tax planning, retirement planning, and estate planning;
- Examination – Pass the comprehensive CFP® Certification Examination. The examination includes case studies and client scenarios designed to test one’s ability to correctly diagnose financial planning issues and apply one’s knowledge of financial planning to real world circumstances;
- Experience – Complete at least three years of full-time financial planning-related experience (or the equivalent, measured as 2,000 hours per year); and
- Ethics – Agree to be bound by CFP Board’s Standards of Professional Conduct, a set of documents outlining the ethical and practice standards for CFP® professionals.

Individuals who become certified must complete the following ongoing education and ethics requirements in order to maintain the right to continue to use the CFP® marks:

- Continuing Education – Complete 30 hours of continuing education hours every two years, including two hours on the Code of Ethics and other parts of the Standards of Professional Conduct, to maintain competence and keep up with developments in the financial planning field; and
- Ethics – Renew an agreement to be bound by the Standards of Professional Conduct. The Standards prominently require that CFP® professionals provide financial planning services at a fiduciary standard of care. This means CFP® professionals must provide financial planning services in the best interests of their clients.

CFP® professionals who fail to comply with the above standards and requirements may be subject to CFP Board's enforcement process, which could result in suspension or permanent revocation of their CFP® certification.

Mr. Brown has also been a CFA® Charter Holder since 1994. CFA® designates an international professional certificate that is offered by the CFA Institute.

The Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA) charter is a globally respected, graduate-level investment credential established in 1962 and awarded by CFA Institute — the largest global association of investment professionals.

There are currently more than 90,000 CFA charter holders working in 134 countries. To earn the CFA charter, candidates must: (1) pass three sequential, six-hour examinations; (2) have at least four years of qualified professional investment experience; (3) join CFA Institute as members; and (4) commit to abide by, and annually reaffirm, their adherence to the CFA Institute Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct.

High Ethical Standards

The CFA Institute Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct, enforced through an active professional conduct program, require CFA charter holders to:

- Place their clients' interests ahead of their own
- Maintain independence and objectivity
- Act with integrity
- Maintain and improve their professional competence
- Disclose conflicts of interest and legal matters

Global Recognition

Regulatory bodies in 22 countries and territories recognize the CFA charter as a proxy for meeting certain licensing requirements, and more than 125 colleges and universities around the world have incorporated a majority of the CFA program curriculum into their own finance courses.

Comprehensive and Current Knowledge

The CFA Program curriculum provides a comprehensive framework of knowledge for investment decision making and is firmly grounded in the knowledge and skills used every day in the investment profession. The three levels of the CFA Program test a proficiency with a wide range of fundamental and advanced investment topics, including ethical and professional standards, fixed-income and equity analysis, alternative and derivative investments, economics, financial reporting standards, portfolio management, and wealth planning.

The CFA Program curriculum is updated every year by experts from around the world to ensure that candidates learn the most relevant and practical new tools, ideas, and investment and wealth management skills to reflect the dynamic and complex nature of the profession.
